History of Gifting

Located on North Main Street and across from Forest Road, the Lakeview Cemetery was started with a few concerned residents donating their farmland to provide a final resting place for their neighbors and community residents.

The original land of the Lakeview Cemetery was a farm that bordered North Main Street. This part of the cemetery is called the Old Yard. People buried relatives there starting in the late 1700's. The oldest grave, is that of Ann Parker who died in 1786.

Successive landowners donated property for burial purposes and in 1905 a group of interested citizens formed the Lakeview Cemetery Association to provide for its continuing maintenance. They sold burial plots in order to support the upkeep of the cemetery. Some day, the use of the land for this purpose will no longer be available to us.

The Founders were investing in the needs of their Town and their neighbors. In the tradition of those men, today's Cemetery Board is looking to ensure the future of Wolfeboro's "City on the Hill" by establishing this gifting program.
